Think global Act local

All across south west London a quiet revolution has begun. In schools, at work, at home, people are changing the way they live, work and play.

They are motivated by the desire to protect our environment - a priority which becomes ever more urgent as each year passes.

Last month was the sunniest February in Britain since records began, and rainfall in this part of the country was less than half the average for this time of year.

Spring now arrives in our gardens and parks weeks earlier than a few decades ago - another alarm signal that the world's weather patterns are changing, and changing fast.

Right round the planet people are experiencing the effects - unprecedented drought, torrential rain, hurricanes and melting glaciers.

Scientists who, just a few years ago, believed that climate change would most likely be a gradual process are deeply worried.

The changes they are observing are taking place faster than expected. And there is a growing body of evidence that in the past the planet's climate has altered radically in the space of a single decade - possibly even less.

A series of potential tipping points have been identified by climate scientists which, if crossed, could trigger runaway climate change.

At the same time we in south London are living a three planet lifestyle, consuming the world's resources at an unsustainable rate.

And we are producing a mountain of waste - waste which can no longer simply be dumped in landfill sites.

But all is not doom and gloom. Bright shoots of hope are springing up everywhere.

From Balham to Bombay concerned citizens are taking action in their own lives and demanding effective change from their leaders.

In this country the Government and local councils are starting to give the environment the priority it deserves.

Here in south London the Green Guardian project, a unique partnership bringing together this newspaper group, leading councils, businesses and voluntary organisations, has been working to get people involved at a local level.

Tens of thousands of people are now reading the Green Guardian pages in this newspaper every week, and many more are logging on to the website.

Our environmental reporters bring you the latest news about local projects, initiatives, and people, plus information about green businesses in your area, tips about how to go green and much more. And our website is packed with useful information - see the back page.

It really does work. In a recent readership survey almost two thirds of respondents said that something they read in the Green Guardian had prompted them into action.

Hundreds of people have also been nominated for a Green Guardian Award over the past two years to thank them for the steps they have taken towards a more sustainable lifestyle.

The challenges ahead are truly daunting, but together we can work miracles.

So, why not make this the year you join the green revolution?

As the Chinese sage Lao Tzu said: "The journey of 10,000 miles starts with a single step"

ACTION ON CAR SPEED

Councillor calls for stronger enforcements on speeding after major three car pile-up

A serious head-on collision that saw one man air-lifted to hospital has led to calls for urgent action to be taken to improve road safety in the Kingston area.

The accident happened on the A243 Hook Road at about 4.45pm on Thursday, March 20, and involved a Nissan, a BMW and a van.

The driver of the Nissan had to be cut free from the car, before being taken by air ambulance to the Royal London Hospital, where he was described as having leg injuries and being in a stable condition.

Three people in the BMW were taken to Kingston Hospital with minor injuries but were discharged, while the van driver also suffered minor injuries.

The severity of the accident has led to Councillor Ian Reid, of Chessington North and Hook ward, to call for an urgent meeting with Transport for London (TfL) over the safety of the A243.

He said: "This was an appalling collision and has demonstrated just how dangerous this road is.

by PETER TRUMAN
ptruman@london.newsquest.co.uk

"We've asked officers to arrange a site visit in the next two weeks with TfL asking for improved road safety initiatives to be introduced as quickly as possible.

"We also want to greater enforcement of speed limits. The speeds reached along the road are far too high."

The incident is being investigated by the Collision Investigation Unit and anyone with information is urged to call PC Brook, who is leading the investigation, on 020 8941 9011.

While the unit could not comment on reasons for the crash, PC Brook said the road was wet, there was intermittent rain and gusty winds.

The A243 was closed southbound from the A3 while police investigated the scene, and was not reopened until Friday.

London Bus routes 71, 465 and K4 were diverted and seriously delayed in this incident, as was traffic heading out of London for the bank holiday weekend.

15-year-old boy bottled at station

by KERRY GROVE

kgrove@london.newsquest.co.uk

Police have released new CCTV images following a bottle attack in Surbiton.

British Transport Police (BTP) hoped the images will lead them to the youths responsible for an assault on a 15-year-old at Surbiton station in November.

The teen was attacked on November 2, after being approached by a gang of men asking for cigarettes sometime after 10pm.

The victim, who was with a group of friends, asked to be left alone because he was trying to get home.

He was punched in the face and hit behind the ear with a bottle but was not seriously injured.

PC Paul Donovan from the BTP's crime action team said: "We have CCTV images of two males we would like to identify as we believe they could assist us with this investigation."

The youths are black males, aged between 17 and 19. One was about 5ft 8in with black curly hair and a black baseball cap. He was wearing dark clothing and black hooded top.

The other suspect was 5ft 9in and was wearing a black woollen hat, white shirt and black jacket with gold sleeves.

Anyone with information should call BTP on 0800 405040.

Slick talk

Venezuelan oil was the main topic of debate at the Kingston and Surbiton Socialist Labour party meeting on Wednesday, March 12.

Guest speaker Alvaro Sanchez, a consular at the London Consulate of the Bolivian Republic of Venezuela, gave an account of the rise of President Hugo Chavez in the country, at the bimonthly meeting in the Waggon and Horses pub in Surbiton.

Key to the discussion was the current legal battle between giant oil corporation ExxonMobil and Venezuela, being contested at the Royal Courts of Justice.

The meeting resolved to condemn the US company in referring a dispute between itself and Venezuela to a British court.

Thousands join post office fight

by KERRY GROVE
kgrove@london.newsquest.co.uk

The campaign to save six of Kingston's post offices from closure has been branded "outstanding", after getting almost 3,000 petition signatures.

Over the last five weeks, customers have spoken out at protests, public meetings and through petitions at shops and newsagents across the borough.

The London consultation over the closures finishes on April 2, when Post Office Ltd will decide if branches at Burlington Road and Kingston Road in New Malden, Hook Rise South in Surbiton, Malden Road in Worcester Park and Surbiton Road and Chestnut Grove in Kingston, will close for good.

The campaign, organised by the Kingston Guardian's sister paper the Surrey Comet, brought together local MPs, councillors and Mayoral candidates, getting almost 2,500 paper and 231 online petition signatures.

Kingston and Surbiton MP Edward Davey said: "So far the campaign has been outstanding.

"The public meetings have been really well attended and we have shown the many flaws in the consultation."

Norbiton Common post office collected 880 signatures alone.

Sub-postmaster Harshad Patel said: "Customers are really not happy about it closing down.

"They have got a long way to go to the other post offices, and that's our main concern."

More than 40 customers spoke out at a public meeting on March 20, and representatives from Post Office Ltd accepted some of its research was wrong.

Sign here: The Surrey Comet petition

Claims that Kingston has nine serving counters and Surbiton has seven serving counters was disputed, as well as statistics on the amount of customers at Surbiton Road post office, which they argued was far busier.

The representatives promised to relay that information back.

See this week's Surrey Comet for more on the campaign.

Kids enjoy a yoke or two Families enjoyed a host of indoor Easter activities laid on by the Bentall Centre and John Lewis in Kingston last weekend.

An egg hunt was held in John Lewis and more than 400 children collected clues throughout the store to pick up an egg.

Children were also invited to decorate an egg cup in the store to hold their newly won bounty in.

The Bentall Centre laid on a free chocolate fountain over the Easter weekend and a giant Easter bunny was roaming around helping with another egg hunt organised by the centre.

Roundabout fate unclear

A decision over whether the Magic Roundabout youth counselling service should close has been postponed again.

Two trustees who volunteered to help the charity are yet to come up with ways to raise a £20,000 funding shortfall.

The service, which is based in Canbury Park Road, Kingston, will learn of its fate in mid-April.

Series of festival debates will make people think in Kingston

Debates on design, free speech and sustainability are all on offer next week as part of the Think in Kingston festival.

The global and environmental challenges of creating good urban design is the topic of a talk presented by David Kester, chief executive of the design council.

The event takes place in the senior common room of the Knights Park campus of Kingston University at 6.30pm on Monday, March 31.

Claire Fox, director of the Institute of Ideas, will chair a roundtable debate about whether free speech is being curtailed through fear of controversy at the John Galsworthy Building, Kingston University, on April 1 at 7pm.

Biodiversity and climate change will be under examination at the Eating Our Way to Sustainability debate to be held at Tiffin Boys' School on April 2.

All events are free but you should call 020 8547 5205 to reserve a place for the Institute of Ideas free speech debate.

Centre still dividing opinion after report

The Hook Centre has received a glowing report a year after it controversially opened, though not everyone is convinced.

The centre was heavily criticised by Conservative councillors for being financially mismanaged, leading to a budget overspend and executive committee bail out last July.

But a report by the director of learning and children's services has heaped praise on the centre, which opened in January 2007, replacing the 1960s-built library and community hall.

Speaking at the south of the borough neighbourhood committee meeting on Tuesday, March 18, when the report was presented, Councillor Mary Reid said: "We've had people be sceptical and expect the place to be booked up in a week. These things take time to come in. But we're now providing a positive service for young people."

by PETER TRUMAN
ptruman@london.newsquest.co.uk

News the crèche would be turned into a children's centre delighted councillors and other services highlighted for praise included the recording studio and the library.

More than 1,000 people used it for workshops, courses and events, and this figure is expected to grow to 1,500 next year.

In the latest children's public library users survey, conducted in 2007, nine out of 10 children rated Hook library as good, the highest category.

And Vicki Harris, councillor for Tolworth and Hook Rise, said: "Thanks must go to the library staff who have put in so much effort in to the activities in the centre."

Councillor Howard Jones, leader of the opposition, remained sceptical about the centre.

He said: "[The Lib Dems] overspent, they mismanaged, and now they're doing their best to put a gloss on it and we are still unaware of exactly what the financial position is a year afterwards."

No raw deal for dancers

A Kingston dance group which has only been together nine months has reached the final of the UK Unsigned competition.

Raw Release is an all-girl troupe from Kingston which trains at Kingston Dance Studio in Richmond Road on Thursday nights.

The competition, which boasts Leona Lewis and Katie Melua among previous entrants, saw more that 5,000 people compete in more than 50 heats.

The grand final will be held at Hackney Empire on March 30.

Closing time: Parents and children don't want to lose Club 519 Deadlinepix KT19918

Parents angered by club closure

by MIKE DIDYMUS
mdidymus@london.newsquest.co.uk

Parents using a special needs sports club in Kingston have pleaded for the council not to shut it down.

Club 519, based at the North Kingston Centre in Richmond Road, is due to be closed on March 29, after too few people attended.

Parents of the five- to 19-year-old users argued in a letter to the council that numbers were low because the activity had moved location twice recently, causing some sessions to be cancelled, and said the club was now very settled at its new location.

They said the morning club was not publicised well enough and asked the council to show more commitment to special needs sports, move towards identifying potential Paralympics contenders and develop sporting talent.

Rob Hughes, whose six-year-old son Owen attends every fortnight, questioned the sense in closing the club when no alternative options were available. He said: "Owen's going to be so upset when it closes – he talks about the club non-stop in the two weeks between sessions and always wants to know if it's the weekend he gets to go.

"When they told us it was closing because of insufficient numbers we were absolutely gutted. They say it's been advertised but it's not been promoted greatly."

A spokesman for the council's Active Kingston Team said the club had been publicised through every avenue possible and, despite wanting to keep the club open, the council could not justify running activities.

She said: "On average there were about six children in the younger class and two in the older class so you've got to make a judgement call because you can't run it all."

Chairman saddles up for a charity challenge

Chairman of Home Farm Trust Richard Barber will cycle from Land's End to John O'Groats for his charity.

Kingston-based Mr Barber hopes to raise more than £10,000 for the charity, which supports more than 1,000 people with Down's syndrome and autism.

Mr Barber, 65, admitted that training for the 1,050 mile challenge had been hard, but said the donation of a top of the range bicycle from Halfords had made any discomfort a lot more bearable.

He said: "I've been cycling up and down the Surrey Downs and if you do 50 miles a day when you are only used to half-a-mile in a week it's a hell of a learning curve, but it's going fine.

"It's a particularly ludicrous idea since I never bike more than the distance from north Kingston to the town but it seemed to be a worthwhile way to raise money and it certainly seems to have provoked a tremendous response."

To support Mr Barber visit justgiving.com/richardbarber1

Trouble in store

The John Lewis department store in Kingston has reported only a marginal increase on last year's sales figures due to bad weather, difficult year-on-year comparables and an attractive sporting calendar.

The chain of stores, regarded as a sales barometer for the retail sector, reported a nationwide decline of 1.3 per cent on sales for the seven days up to March 15.

A taxi please to Mongolia

A group of Kingston College students have been busy modifying a London Taxi which their lecturers will drive 10,000 miles to Mongolia.

The students, studying a national diploma in motor vehicles, needed a car worth less than £1,000 for the Mongol Rally challenge and decided the Metrocab taxi was up to the task.

The six-strong team, called Built by Students, have turned their hands to fundraising to reach the £1,000 charity donation necessary to enter the rally.

Nick Tillyer, Head of Section L3 Engineering, will brave the three week race with fellow lecturer Chris Coombes.

He said: "There is nothing in the world I like more than sand in my Marmite sandwiches and getting lost, so this challenge sounded perfect."

by MIKE DIDYMUS
mdidymus@london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingston College has some pedigree in the competition, with their 2007 entry successfully negotiating the harsh terrain to Ulaanbaatar before being sold off for charity.

The students have until July 19 to finish their modifications before the cab has to be on the start line in Hyde Park. Interest in the event has grown since its inception in 2004.

Anyone interested in sponsoring the team in their endeavour should visit willwemakeit.com/sixstudents

All hail: Kingston College students aim to take part in the Mongol Rally challenge

NEWS*brief*

PARKING THEFT: A parking attendant caused double misery for a van driver as thieves stole £6,000 worth of goods out the back of his van. The man was distracted talking to the warden outside Natterjacks in Fife Road on Thursday, March 13, between 11.22am and 11.26am. Six boxes of sports equipment were stolen. Anyone with information should call PC Tracey Jenson, who is leading the enquiry, on 020 8247 5114, or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

PHONE MOVE: A Chessington-based telecom company has moved two doors down the road to expand. Frequency Telecom, and its business to business subsidiary Jelly Communications, moved to its new premises in Leatherhead Road earlier this week. The company had been at its old site since it was founded in 2002.

'Beast' appears on national TV

Kingston Grammar School's award-winning technology club is going to appear on national TV after inventing a water-rocket powered car.

The Hydra Maniacs, a team of three students from the club were pitted against two professional adult teams in Channel 5 programme, the Gadget Show, to see whose water-powered vehicle could travel the furthest.

The Maniac's Beast, powered by 80 plastic drinks bottles, was narrowly beaten by the National Physical Laboratory's vehicle which travelled just a few metres further than their 50m effort.

Nick Bond, the assistant headmaster at the school, who described the club's performance as "very impressive", said that the National Physical Library "only won because they were allowed to go twice and we weren't".

The three students, George Roberts, 13, Sam Theron, 11, and Gabriel D'Alessandro, 12, will appear on the Gadget Show on Monday, March 31, on Channel 5.

New store: Lidl has opened a new supermarket in New Malden

A Lidl goes a very long way

More cheap shopping is on offer after New Malden's new Lidl store in Blagdon Road opened its doors.

The supermarket, which opened on March 13, makes use of pallets in addition to shelves to help keep costs down and will be open 8am to 10pm Monday to Saturday and 11am to 5pm on Sundays.

A Lidl company spokesman said: "We are really excited to unveil our new Lidl store to the residents of New Malden.

"We welcome all the local community to come down and join us and enjoy some of our great new store opening offers."

Access permits to be issued

Kingston residents will receive their new permits for access to the Villiers Road amenity site next week.

The permits were introduced in October last year, restricting use of the site to residents, and the council said this had reduced waste disposal at the site by 41 per cent and saved £28,000 of taxpayers' money.

Other valid forms of identification are a council tax payment book, a valid freedom pass specifying residence of Kingston borough or a parking permit.

For more information about the permit scheme visit kingston.gov.uk/tip or call 020 8547 5560.

Fired-up to learn IT

by JOHANNA CARR
drankin@london.newsquest.co.uk

Local firefighters are going back to school, after a survey showed that more than 80 per cent of them were nervous about using computers at work for tasks including sending emails and writing up fire reports.

Firefighters from Kingston, Surbiton and New Malden have enrolled in a part-time Kingston College IT course which will train them in using computer programmes such as Microsoft Word and Powerpoint.

Simon Harmer, a firefighter at Kingston fire station, hopes that his new found IT skills will help him get a promotion.

He said: "It is really useful, I'm thinking about becoming an officer so the talks that I will have to do will be done on Powerpoint, it is not about pen and paper anymore. We are modernising firemen; I can't believe it."

The firefighters have to attend one class every three weeks for nine months to a year. They are also set a few hours of homework each week.

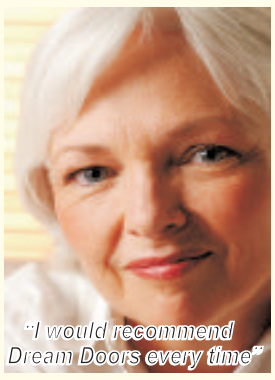

Kingston College has worked with the London Fire Brigade to provide a tailor-made Train to Gain course which targets the specific needs of the fire service.

Train to Gain is a Government initiative from the Learning and Skills Council.

Mr Harmer said some of his colleagues had been finding the course a challenge but that they were all enjoying it. He said: "Some of the old boys take about an hour to type their names. You have some real dinosaurs in the fire service."

"How I Transformed My Kitchen Without Having to Buy a New One"

"My kitchen was over 10 years old and looked tatty. I desperately needed a new kitchen but didn't want the cost or upheaval. I had heard good reports of Dream Doors, who specialise in kitchen facelifts, so I decided to give them a try. What an amazing transformation!

As well as fitting brand new doors and worktops, everything was colour co-ordinated and I even gained additional cupboard space. My kitchen has been transformed in just over a day and I saved 60% of the cost of a new one!

I was under no obligation from the initial visit, and the advice and estimate I received were free of charge. There was no mess, no fuss, just plenty of friendly, helpful advice and I didn't need to pay the balance until I was completely satisfied!

NEWS*brief*

LET THE GAMES BEGIN: The 2012 Olympics roadshow arrives in Kingston this Saturday, March 30, to show how the borough will benefit from the games. Details of jobs and sports opportunities will be on display and local businesses can find out how to compete for construction and hospitality contracts. The Olympics "pod" can be found in Church Street, Kingston, from 10am to 6pm.

YOUNG TALENT: The success of the Let The Music Speak Surbiton street party last July has earned its organiser a nomination for a national award. Nathan Erasmus has been shortlisted for young social entrepreneur in the Edge Upstarts Awards 2008 for encouraging community cohesion. About 2,000 people visited and another event is planned this summer.

ON THE RUN: A man with an allergy to wheat will run the London Marathon to raise awareness of the disease. Tony Hart, 47, from Tolworth, has coeliac disease, meaning he is violently ill if he eats wheat products, which can make eating out a nightmare. Mr Hart is running the London Marathon for the second time on April 13 and hopes to raise more than £1,500.

Enjoy cultural nights for free

by ALITA HOWE
ahowe@london.newsquest.co.uk

Tempting your tastebuds with Moroccan cuisine or sampling an evening of salsa are just two of the events in a packed 10-day festival descending on Kingston's Market House next month.

The Market House Festival starts on April 7, and has been organised by Kingston resident Marilyn Mason, who won £1,500 from the Royal Society of the Encouragement of the Arts, Starbucks and T-Mobile, who held two coffeehouse challenge events in Kingston last year to debate alternative evening activities in the borough.

Ms Mason said: "I'm delighted the final festival programme is so varied, and that all the events include an element of participation and socialising, as it was very much one of its aims to bring Kingston visitors, workers and residents together to do something different after work or shopping.

The festival, which also includes an eco-fair and a discussion on faith and atheism, aims to showcase what Ms Mason said was an "underused asset" and diversify Kingston's evening culture by hosting the 10 free events.

"I think many people would like to see a more vibrant and varied evening culture in the town centre, and the festival is a small contribution towards that," she said.

Songs swell church funds

All Saints' Church in Kingston received a £2,500 windfall to boost its renovation plans recently, after a come-and-sing event.

More than 200 singers from local choirs and singing groups packed the church on March 1 for the Mozart requiem event organised by the Thames Philharmonic Orchestra.

Reverend Jonathan Wilkes, rector at All Saints' Church, received the money from the orchestra's artistic director, John Bate, on Tuesday, March 18.

Reverend Wilkes said: "This money is thanks to the kindness of the Thames Philharmonic Orchestra, who were aware of our big appeal to restore and redevelop the church.

"We have a big task to raise the money and this event formed a wonderful part of that."

Boris' binge booze pledge

by PETER TRUMAN

ptruman@london.newsquest.co.uk

In town: Boris Johnson

Deadlinepix KT20019

London Mayoral candidate Boris Johnson has visited Kingston after announcing plans to name and shame boroughs that do not act on underage and binge drinking.

Mr Johnson visited Kingston town centre on Saturday, March 22, as the trial of a triage centre to treat drunken injuries on Friday and Saturday nights entered its third week.

Speaking on Monday, Mr Johnson declared war on binge drinking and called on councils to do more with their powers to cut the problem.

He said: "Our town centres are becoming no-go areas every Friday and Saturday night and something needs to be done about this.

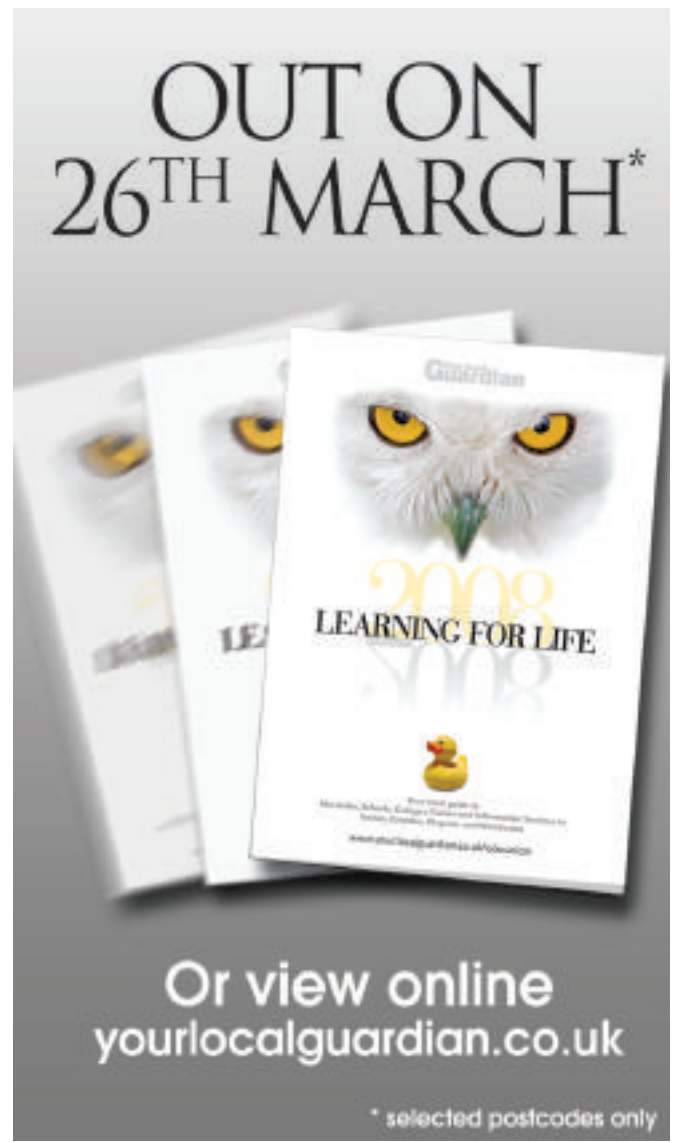

"In addition to getting more police on the streets, we need to tackle the problem at its core and get tough with bars and shops that break the rules.

"I am willing to publish league tables, naming and shaming those councils which do not use their new powers to crack down on this."

But Councillor Derek Osbourne, leader of the council, labelled Mr Johnson an "idiot", claiming the prospective mayor was trying to deflect any potential blame away from the police.

Coun Osbourne said: "It's just window dressing. The Mayor has power over the police but not councils so he is saying it's all the councils' fault.

"It's just blame-shunting and Mr Johnson should stop jumping on the bandwagon and come up with some positive actions that he can take as Mayor."

Concerned: Moral Maze panelist Claire Fox will chair the free speech debate

As part of the Think in Kingston festival, the Institute of Ideas is hosting a round-table debate on April 1 about whether freedom of speech is being curtailed by the fear of causing controversy. The debate will be chaired by Claire Fox, director of the Institute of Ideas and panelist on BBC Radio 4's Moral Maze. She spoke to ALITA HOWE

Are we losing our freedom of speech?

Why is this debate so timely?
We are a more liberal society but it is ironic that, just as we have abolished the blasphemy laws, a whole range of new taboos are emerging.

We are concerned and think it is vital to discuss the creeping, ebbing-away of people being able to speak openly.

Take the war on terror; there is now incitement legislation where people can be prosecuted for ideas or content on a website.

It is a very important and dangerous shift reminiscent of an Orwellian thought crime situation that is eroding the pillars of free speech.

What do you see as the dangers if this trend continues?
We simply won't live in a free society and a sense of an open and dynamic world will disappear.

People will have to walk around looking over their shoulder in case they say the wrong thing.

Why was the Institute of Ideas set up and what does it hope to achieve?
It was set up seven years ago because there were a lot of issues that were not being debated openly enough.

We organise festivals and conferences to try to open up discussions on free speech further.

We are increasingly living in a crude atmosphere of political correctness where people are nervous about what they say. We need to remove the shackles of that.

What are you hoping to achieve from the discussion in Kingston?
Everyone on the panel is broadly for free speech but it is not a black and white issue.

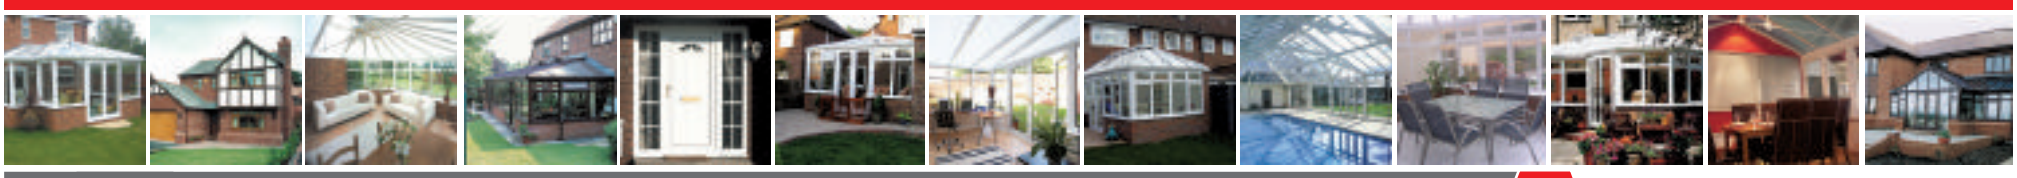

Not everyone comes from the same perspective and undoubtedly, we're not expecting everyone will agree with us or that we'll agree with them.

It's not about winning anyone over – we're hoping for a lively discussion and to open up the debate.

Train union threatens four-day strike

A union representing South West Trains' (SWT) drivers has threatened strike action in a dispute over pay.

£40,000 to drive a train. And a pay rise offer far more than a policeman, nurse or teacher who all get paid far less. Let's hope they get sacked for striking.

Football captain caught in disabled parking spot

Chelsea football captain John Terry was caught illegally parking in a disabled bay on Friday afternoon.

John Terry is a great footballer and seems like a decent sort but – like it or not – this is news. If only because of the way footballers seem to think they are above the law. £60 means nothing to him and that's why he did it. He deserves to be exposed for it.

Rob

People park in disabled bays illegally all the time. How come they do not make the news? Whether a famous person does it or not, it still is not going to stop people from doing it.

Very thoughtless. Very selfish. Why would any self-respecting person want to deprive a disadvantaged citizen from using a facility created for their use?

Lack of youth service is just 'senseless neglect'

I am sure that I will not have been alone in noticing the link between the stories in your last edition ("Estate tenants take on thugs with 'DIY ASBOs'" and "Final turn for Roundabout?"). A leading cause of antisocial behaviour is the lack of youth services and provision in Kingston, which is why problems noticeably increase in holiday and half-term times.

Our Lib Dem council has underfunded our youth services, and the potential closure through lack of grant of the Magic Roundabout with the excellent counselling that it provides is only the latest example. At the same time, the Lib Dems have not used the full range of tools that the Government has provided to tackle antisocial behaviour.

This is senseless neglect. The social and financial costs of dealing with the consequences of antisocial behaviour in places like the Alpha Road and Cambridge Road estates are far greater than the investment needed to prevent it. In the end, the grants that the council pays out demonstrate its priorities. Youth services and tackling antisocial behaviour are clearly not the Lib Dems' priorities.

Not so rosy in Tory land

I am tired of reading letters from Conservative activists who just want to blame the council for everything and pretend that things are rosier in other Tory boroughs.

In Hammersmith and Fulham, 18 per cent of the working age population is on some form of benefit and 3,725 lone parents are on income support.

The grant given by the Government for each resident is £683.49. In Kingston it is a staggering three times less – £231.41

Neighbourhood committees a 'waste of time'

When the Lib Dems took over the administration at the Guildhall, Kingston, one thing they introduced was the neighbourhood committees and compared us to Rochdale.

The neighbouring boroughs (Sutton and Richmond) – both Lib Dems – have not used this system.

I have said in the past that it is a waste of money, with the cost of officials who may be involved and the time for councillors to sit on these committees.

Apart from that, it was meant for local people to attend to air their views and for the neighbourhood committees and the highways authorities to make decisions.

In the Maldens and Coombe neighbourhood, officers recommended various schemes and we can spend considerable time debating whether to accept the recommendations or not.

The councillors who live in the wards to which it appertains know the area and therefore are in a better position to judge whether a project is worthwhile, as opposed to officers who may not be familiar with areas which they recommend.

At the last committee, only eight or nine residents attended. Three came for a grant and others for a problem with their roads.

The idea was to allow residents to attend to voice their views but it is not well supported and, therefore, a waste of nearly £2million to implement and a waste of everybody's time.

The sooner we refer back to the old system of having committees at the Guildhall in place of these neighbourhood committees the better.

Also, we should have the power to decide which projects to accept.

However, if we decline a scheme, the officers go back to the Lib Dem executive at the Guildhall and we are overruled.

So much for democracy.

Fighting fun

I am researching war time humour from World War I to the present from all events ie military, religious, political, social, business, etc. I am looking for cartoons/stories/speeches that are funny, satirical, ironic, anecdotal, "pith" sayings, etc for my research and possible publication in a book. I would appreciate any help from readers.

It's a scream

With reference to the letter from Mr Langham-Smith concerning strange noises in New Malden High Street, I too have heard the same from my office opposite the Methodist Church.

I have been startled by loud screams on a regular basis. We have, however, noticed the same white van driving by on more than one occasion when the noise was heard. I feel the occupants of this vehicle may be responsible.

The noise frightens my staff and more recently caused my dog to knock over my computer monitor.

Conservative speeches 'embarrassing'

Judging from the tone of his letter, Dan Goodger cannot have attended the Budget Council meeting.

Had he been there on February 27, he would have seen the shambolic performance of his Conservative colleagues and would find it hard to ever take their propaganda at face value again.

The Conservative leader read out a speech that was at least two months out-of-date. Embarrassingly, most Conservative councillors spent their speeches talking about proposals that weren't even in the current budget but were passed last year.

And the Conservative chairman of Maldens and Coombe neighbourhood complained about having to find £50,000 of savings from his committee budget.

Just imagine him trying to find the £10million of cuts he promised in order to cut council tax levels.

To top it all, Tory councillors couldn't even decide how to vote.

Half of them raised their hands to vote against the budget, until their leader told them in panicked whispers to put their hands down and abstain. So for all their public criticisms of the Lib Dem budget, they didn't even vote against it.

Sadly, this was typical of the Tory approach to the entire budget process. On February 5, they held a special meeting to scrutinise £114.2million of public expenditure.

It lasted a mere hour, the equivalent of £30,000 per second.

No wonder Conservative councillors failed to propose a single amendment to the budget – they didn't understand it.

Herculean joy

I do not agree with Richmond Park MP Susan Kramer about the cull of the deer in Richmond Park, which is necessary to keep the herd well and healthy.

I was lucky enough to win a deer feed in the evening. It was my prize for naming a new stag Hercules.

This was magic.

If the Royal Parks Authority kept all the ill and old, there would be problems – and anyway the meat is used for food like beef is.

Work still needs to be done to have your say on Tesco site at Tolworth

Further to the web comment by "Roland", Tesco's ownership of the site at Tolworth does not imply that what it wants on it is the only alternative to dereliction.

Tesco will shortly clear the old building away.

However, that will not mean it has won and development is imminent, just that the time wasted by its persistence with vandalism and squatting is costing it money.

It recently failed to overturn on appeal a refusal to put advert hoardings by the roundabout for five years; it never expected to build at once.

Capitalising on what it hopes demolition will convey, it will make a fresh planning application soon. Then follows the real, official consultation process, rather than that through its working groups.

Tesco's most recent showroom session proved to me that participation in the groups by some has neither cut the sacrosanct size of store.

Neither has it vastly reduced the scale of whatever variant of flats is included.

The former co-ordinator of Tolworth Residents against Overdevelopment created a good website but, contrary to the impression he left on it, neither your work nor that of everyone of us is done.

Binmen in bacteria risk

Government research has recently pointed out a number of health risks linked to fortnightly waste collections.

The Health and Safety Executive (HSE) highlighted the risk of exposure to binmen to "microbiological hazards", for example E coli and salmonella. There is also a risk of inhaling bioaerosola, contaminating their hands and coming in contact with vermin.

The HSE stated that "weekly collections were better for binmen because the bags tend to weigh less and therefore lower the risk of injury". Critics claim fortnightly collections increase fly infestations and attract vermin.

How will the council prevent these health and safety risks? How do we really know that our recycling waste isn't going to landfill? We are putting our trust into the liberal administration that has clearly misled it residents.

In the Liberal Democrat manifesto 2006, it promised to increase the recycling collection to a weekly service. Why have the Lib Dems now changed their promise to a fortnightly collection? This isn't what residents voted for!

London & Equal Pay
A message from Action 4 Equality

Low pay is widespread in London

London's 32 councils routinely pay women workers less than men - despite the fact that this is unlawful

Traditional male jobs (refuse workers and gardeners) are paid more than traditional female jobs - such as carers, catering workers and classroom assistants

Typically, the female jobs are paid £6 or £7 per hour while the male jobs are paid £9 or £10 per hour - only the male jobs receive big bonuses which are kept hidden from women workers

If you work in a predominantly female job, you are likely to have a sizeable claim - worth up to six years back pay plus interest

Action 4 Equality has a proven track record of success and thousands of satisfied clients - we're not in bed with the employers and tell people what they need to know

Here are a few illustrative examples

Your pay	Male Comparator	Back pay Claim	Who can claim?
£13,500	£19,500	£40,320	Cleaners, Catering Workers, Home Carers and Day Carers, Cooks and Supervisors, Office/Admin Staff and Classroom Assistants + many more.
£10,000	£15,000	£33,600
£7,500	£11,250	£25,200	How do I make a claim? You can make a claim on a 'No Win, No Fee' basis with Action 4 Equality London
£4,400	£6,200	£12,096

Why you should've gone to Specsavers for a hearing aid.

The UK's most trusted optician brings expertise and value for money to hearing care. Specsavers' top selling range of hearing aids combines the latest digital technology with low prices and the backing of a team of qualified professional Hearing Aid Audiologists.

World-leading technology

Specsavers' 'Advance' range of hearing aids are packed with state-of-the-art digital features for great sound clarity. Multiple programmes, automatic volume control, feedback management, background noise reduction, speech sensitive processing, and telecoil/loop compatibility are all available – so whatever you need, we can provide it.

The best value for money

Technical excellence is only half the story. At Specsavers it costs far less. That's why Specsavers openly displays hearing aid prices. Market research has shown that huge savings can be made at Specsavers – you can see the latest Keydata survey for yourself at specsavers.com/hearing/compareprices. Moreover, Specsavers charges no extra for smaller 'in the ear' and 'in the canal' aids – the miniature ones that are actually hidden inside your ear. And since you hear far better with two ears than you do with one, Specsavers offer you two hearing aids for the price of one across the whole 'Advance' range, with prices starting from just £495.

Experienced hearing professionals

But none of this counts without the expertise to make it work for you. We have qualified Hearing Aid Audiologists providing a nationwide hearing service, offering free hearing tests, free hearing aid fitting and free aftercare. All Specsavers digital hearing aids come with a full two-year guarantee too. So you get complete peace of mind.

The UK's most popular hearing aids

No wonder Specsavers is now the UK's largest private dispenser of digital hearing aids, with Britain's best selling hearing aid range.

QUIT ON-LINE

Whilst for many people it can be very helpful, not everyone wants to go and see someone in person to help them give up smoking - but most smokers want to be smoke free at some point in the future. If you have the motivation to stop smoking and can access the internet, this programme is for you - right at your fingertips!

Tailor made support online

What makes desktop quitting unique is that it can be accessed at any time of day or night, and offers personalised support based on your age, gender and motivations for quitting.

Regular tailor made messages are created to support you as you break free from smoking, which you access through an online calendar at a time that suits you.

It has been created for use anywhere that you have internet access!

You'll have access to:

- Tailored support for the first seven days in preparation for your quit date
- A personalized calendar providing motivational messages at regular intervals for 12 weeks
- Information on how to prepare and to cope with the quitting process
- Quitters gossip page
- A cost calculator
- Access to your local NHS Stop Smoking Service and advice on how to access treatments on prescription
- Confidential support as no one need know you are using the programme

Laid to rest: Robert Daws and Dawn Steele, as Ray and Una, have to come to terms with a turbulent past

Facing up to the past

THEATRE: Blackbird, The Rose, Kingston

Simon Fitzjohn

David Harrower's raw, controversial, award-winning play Blackbird continues the Rose's impressive slate of launch projects as the Kingston theatre premieres this production ahead of its nationwide tour.

Focusing on the delicate subject of paedophilia and the devastating impact it can have, Harrower's work is a hard-hitting examination of people's struggles to escape their turbulent pasts.

Director David Grindley has assembled an impressive cast of TV favourites, with Robert Daws and Dawn Steele in the lead roles of Ray and Una.

Daws, probably best-known for his appearances in The Royal and Roger Roger, admits the subject matter makes for a challenging night out.

He says: "It is a challenge. It is a very tortuous text and a tortuous story.

"It is very disjointed, with a lot of unfinished sentences – David really has thrown a lot into the mix.

"For an actor, it is a bit of a rodeo – you can get thrown off at any time."

Despite admitting the subject matter may not be to everyone's tastes, the leads are eager to point out that the play has a morally ambiguous tone.

And Steele, well-loved for her role as Lexie in Monarch of the Glen, insists much is left to the audience's imagination.

She says: "The content is very controversial, even more so now than when it was written.

"But it is an amazing story and you are never really sure where you stand.

"I think the audience will leave still not knowing and that is the way we are playing it."

Indeed, with little spelt out for the audience in black or white, Daws agrees they will have to work in order to piece the puzzle together.

He adds: "It is a bit of a detective story – both of them are finding out the reality of what happened 15 years ago.

"You slowly realise there is a bond between them although nothing could ever happen."

One thing that both actors are very quick to agree on is the demands of what is basically a two-cast performance.

With both leads on stage for almost the entire 90-minute production, a new range of problems have had to be overcome.

Daws admits: "They say you use different muscles when on stage for so long and I'm finding out where those muscles are now – it is exhausting!"

Steele concurs: "When I was asked to do it, I wasn't scared of the subject, just scared of the material as there is so much of it.

"As an actor you think, can I do this?

"But that is the great thing about theatre – it really keeps you on your toes.

"It is a great way to scare yourself!"

In fine voice: Tiffin Boys' Choir is joining forces with London Mozart Players

CLASSICAL: Tiffin Boys' Choir, London Mozart Players, Landmark Arts Centre

Simon Fitzjohn

The Thames Concert series continues this weekend in the picturesque setting of Teddington's Landmark Arts Centre as the Tiffin Boys' Choir and London Mozart Players once again join forces.

Following on from last year's successes, the choirs are collaborating to perform the Durufle Requiem and Bach Cantatas. Using Landmark's unique cathedral-like acoustics, the first half of the concert will focus on Bach, juxtaposing two rarely performed pieces.

First up is the one-movement cantata, O Jesu Christ, Meins Lebens Licht, followed by Ich, Elender Mensch – a journey from despair to redemption. Both pieces use trumpet solos as a backdrop to expressive arias.

The second half will comprise Durufle's setting of the Requiem Mass, which was inspired by Faure's Requiem texts.

This will feature probably the highlight of the evening, a version of Pie Jesu on solo cello duetting with a treble soloist.

The Tiffin Boys' Choir consists exclusively of boys aged 11 to 18 and was founded in 1957. They are at the forefront of UK choral music and regularly perform with the major London orchestras. Indeed, the choir is performing Britten's Spring Symphony with the London Symphony Orchestra at the Barbican on March 30.

While London Mozart Players can claim an even longer history, having formed in 1949 by Harry Blech. Based at Croydon's Fairfield Halls, the orchestra tour extensively, having performed at more than 130 venues across Europe.

Tiffin Boys' Choir and London Mozart Players, Landmark Arts Centre, Teddington, March 29, 8pm. £11/£13/£18, call 07984 417278.

Feel the fource

Sitting pretty: Sukie's Josh, James, Andrew and Adam

GIGS: Sukie, New Slang, The Works

Simon Fitzjohn

There is nothing the music Press likes more than rumours of disputes between band members, threats of break-ups or on-stage dust-ups.

The newspaper coverage of the latest Spice Girls' split showed, for example, that when it comes to column inches, calamity is king.

But journo vultures circling Kettering four-piece Sukie looking for a similar story are likely to be disappointed, as guitarist/vocalist James Bagshaw explains: "I think the reason we are doing so well is we all work together – there is no weak member. There are no ego problems, everyone just wants to make good music."

Sukie, who comprise James, vocalist Adam Branaghan, bassist Andrew Barr and drummer Josh Ambler, have been gigging and writing since joining forces at high school.

And James has definitive thoughts on their style and musical aims.

He says: "We are trying to take indie pop to a new level.We have been typecast as indie swing and have no problem with that. There's a bit of jazz and a classic feel."

The band hope to make their mark on the nation's psyche when they release their as-yet unnamed debut single in May.

And, with contract offers flooding in from as far away as Japan, it is exciting times for the boys.

James says: "We are getting good reactions at gigs and everything is progressing nicely.

"We did a gig recently and, afterwards, the bar owner said, 'I don't really like music but I liked your stuff – here's some beer tokens'.

"That's when you know things are going well – when you start getting free stuff!"

Sukie, New Slang, The Works, Kingston, March 27, 8pm, £4. Call 020 8541 4411.

Discover the beautiful Island of Madeira

Seven nights from £369 per person

Situated in the Atlantic Ocean about 400 miles off the coast of Morocco, Madeira's sub-tropical climate, exotic flora and relaxed atmosphere make it popular with British holiday makers. Holidays operate weekly all year round and flights from London Gatwick make this Portuguese resort easily accessible. You can explore magnificent botanical gardens and soak up the ambience in the fishing village of Camara de Lobos where Winston Churchill loved to paint.

Prices start from just £369 per person flying from London Gatwick and holidays depart weekly between May and October 2008.

The price includes return flights from London Gatwick with in-flight meals, return transfers airport/hotel/airport, seven nights three-star hotel accommodation with breakfast (four- and five-star upgrades available at supplement) and the services of a resort representative. Single rooms and half-board at a supplement.

Call: 01452 381 888 quoting: NQL

or email: nql@atlanticholidays.net

Prices per person, based on two sharing and subject to availability. Prices vary according to date of travel and choice of accommodation. Credit card charges apply. Operated by Atlantic Holidays, ABTA V3671 ATOL PROTECTED 2704, a company independent of Newsquest Media Group. When you respond to promotions and offers, we may use your information to contact you with offers/services that we believe will be of interest. Please give your mobile or email details if you wish to receive offers by sms or email. Public Notice

In the Kingston-upon-Thames County Court
No. 122 of 2006
The Bankrupt Estate of ANDREW COLIN FRESHWATER
Described in the Bankruptcy Order as of and trading at 62 Holly Avenue New Ham Addlestone Surrey KT15 3UD as an Unknown Occupation
Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Rule 11.2(1A) of the Insolvency Rules 1986 that I, Carl S Jackson, the Trustee of the above estate, intend paying a first and final dividend to the unsecured creditors within four months of the last date for proving specified below. Creditors who have not already proved are required, on or before 15/04/2008, the last date for proving, to submit their proof of debt to me at Tenon Recovery, Highfield Court Tollgate Chandlers Ford Eastleigh Hampshire SO53 3TZ, and, if so requested by me to provide such further details or produce such documentary or other evidence as may appear to be necessary. A creditor who has not proved his debt before the date specified above is not entitled to disturb, by reason that he has not participated in it, the dividend so declared. Last date for receiving proofs — 15/04/2008.

Faculty of Science

Administration

Team Leader/Course Administrator

£23,654 - £27,106 pa inc. Ref: 08/109

We need an experienced Course Administrator with good organisation skills to provide support for the courses in the Faculty of Science Student Office.

We wish to appoint a team player whose key responsibilities will include supporting the student administration team in the use of the University database (SITS), maintaining student records and ensuring that the University's policies and procedures are adhered to.

The post is in a busy office and the work involves lots of contact with students, and daily interaction with academic staff. You will need to be an experienced database user who can mentor others and develop appropriate administrative systems.

Industrial Placement Administrator

£23,654 - £27,106 pa inc. Ref: 08/110

Maternity Cover – Fixed Term for 1 year

We are seeking an experienced administrator. Your main responsibilities will be to provide administrative support for the industrial placement year of the sandwich courses offered across the Faculty.

The post is in a busy office and the work involves lots of contact with students, both those looking for and those on placements, with the industrial supervisors and daily interaction with academic staff.

For both roles, , you will require proven administrative, IT, communication and strong organisational skills. You must have a flexible approach, be able to work well under pressure and be willing to contribute as part of a team.

Closing date for the above two roles: 12 noon on 4th April 2008.

Student Services and Administration

Student Funding

Funding Assistant

£20,137 - £23,022 pa inc. (pro rata) Ref: 08/104

Part-time (0.5 FTE with flexibility) 1 year fixed term

The Student Funding Service is looking for an efficient individual with good interpersonal skills to join a busy team providing a comprehensive service to students on all matters relating to money.

You will have excellent communication and organisational skills and a flexible attitude to work.

The role will include interviewing students for funding, providing a phone, email and personal caller advice service, as well as general office administration.

Closing date: 12 noon on 16th April 2008.

Interviews: 30th April 2008.

Media Relations Consultants

Part-time

Daily rate £150 - £175 (according to experience)

Do you have a nose for news, a way with words and the know-how to keep Kingston University in the headlines? We are looking to expand our pool of freelance writers and media relations specialists helping us to keep the university's seven faculties right at the forefront of the news agenda.

You will be an enthusiastic communications professional and will probably have worked as a journalist or press officer – or both. An ideas person, you'll be able to think outside the square and have a good knowledge of both proactive and reactive media relations. Your flair for writing will be second to none and you'll be adept at sniffing out stories. You will also relish the challenge of selling in our academics as expert commentators on the major news stories of the day, keeping in regular contact with journalists on a range of titles right across the print and broadcast spectrum.

An excellent communicator, you'll have the confidence to deal with people at all levels within our faculties and in the wider world. With a 'can do' attitude, you'll have the initiative to manage a demanding workload and remain unflappable in the face of tight deadlines and changing priorities.

For an informal discussion about this role or to obtain a job description, please contact Anita Gupta on 020 8417 3036 or a.gupta@kingston.ac.uk To apply, please send a CV and covering letter to: Anita Gupta, Room 2, River House, 53-57 High Street, Kingston, Surrey KT1 1LQ by Tuesday 8th April 2008.

Lodige has evolved from a small business manufacturing hydraulic platforms 60 years ago to a worldwide enterprise operating in a wide selection of industries. We provide an extensive range of passenger & goods lifts together with specifically designed 'customer' packages.

LODIGE MACHINE

Service & Repair Co-ordinator

We are continually expanding and improving our after-sales service & maintenance activities. We maintain a wide range of passenger, goods lifts & scissor platforms for a variety of customers across the UK, and worldwide.

We are looking for a co-ordinator to join the team at our Staines offices. Experience from a Service & Repair/Call-out background would be an advantage, although full training will be given.

Your main role will be to manage our engineers workloads, log, monitor and update our service management system, deal with customer queries and liaise with other departments to ensure we provide an excellent and complete after sales service.

Applicants should be computer literate with good communication skills both verbal and written and be able to work on their own initiative.

In return we are offering a good basic salary together with all the benefits associated with a large international company.

SEAT IBIZA RANGE

Sun, sand and sport

By Steve Walker

SEAT is intent on living up to its allotted billing as the sporty one in VW's volume selling marques.

The current Ibiza models go further than any before them in emphasising the dynamism and exuberance the marketing men have destined to become SEAT's trademark.

The Ibiza's driving experience has won praise from all quarters since its 2003 launch and was central to it collecting no fewer than three WhatCar? 'Supermini of the Year' awards over the proceeding three years.

The car remains impressively composed in corners and the sharp steering makes it easy to spirit around town. The stiffened suspension on the FR and Sport models injects more edginess into the package but the jittery ride is less comfortable for everyday work.

The diesel engines are vocal and the 1.9TDI kicks like a mule when you hit the power band in the 130bhp model. The 1.2-litre petrol engine isn't too overwhelmed on the open road but it's a city dweller at heart.

The SEAT Ibiza line-up has been slimmed back in recent times as the arrival of an all-new model draws ever closer.

The current line-up begins with the 1.2-litre Reference Sport at £8,695 and progresses through the 1.4-litre 85bhp Stylance to the 1.4-litre 100bhp Sport. Then come the diesels.

The 1.4-litre TDI engine is available in Reference Sport trim at £10,395 or in the high efficiency Ecomotive model for £600 more.

The 1.9-litre TDI engine has 100bhp if you pick the Sport model and 130bhp in the £13,980 FR.

DEALER STOCKLIST REPORT - G. KINGSBURY

Motoring journalist Steve Ghosley has been out and about looking over the stock at our local dealers. This week, he casts his eye over the vehicles on offer at G. Kingsbury . . .

G. Kingsbury have been in Hampton for over 110 years and were formerly an MG Rover dealership. With the demise of the Midlands' manufacturer they have now become a thriving Ford dealership. They can also offer their customers a wide range of quality used cars and it is clear from my observations that the vehicles they have available are of a very high standard and in excellent condition. Here I have selected some prime examples: -

Honda

The Honda Jazz has forged itself a renowned reputation in the Supermini sector of the market and it is easy to see why with the 2003 53 registered Jazz 1.4i DSI SE automatic 5-door that G. Kingsbury have available. This superb car is finished in Mint Silver with grey trim and features electric windows, a CD player, air-conditioning, a sun roof, and alloy wheels. With one previous owner, a full service history and only 12,267 miles on the clock, this Jazz is a bargain at £7,695.

BMW

Alternatively, how about a Mini Cooper? The 2004 54-registered model finished in red with a white roof is extremely well specified. It features power assisted steering, white alloy wheels, CD player, air-conditioning and the desirable TLC pack. With only 34,822 miles on the clock it represents great value at only £9,695.

Ford

As a Ford dealership, G. Kingsbury have a comprehensive range of blue oval models. For example, the 2005 05-registered Mondeo 1.8 Zetec Climate 5-door finished in Starlight Silver is typical of the standard available. Featuring electric windows, ABS brakes, a CD player and a full service history, this one owner model is only £7,495.

Overall

G. Kingsbury have an impressive range of vehicles(currently over 60 low mileage one owner quality used cars across 11 different manufacturers) available so it is definitely worth a visit if you are looking for a quality car at a competitive price.

You can find them at 45-49 Station Road, Hampton in Middlesex, TW12 2BU or, for further information, telephone Mike Barton on 020 8481 8046 or mobile 07970 205188.

You can also visit their website at www.gkingsbury.co.uk.

HAVE YOU DRIVEN A MITSUBISHI LATELY?

WITH THE LOWEST EMISSIONS (BAND E) OF ANY 7-SEAT SUV AND FUEL CONSUMPTION OF OVER 42MPG IT WOULD BE 'OUTLANDISH' NOT TOO!^

The Mitsubishi Outlander is a SUV that defies 4x4 conventions, spending most of the time in 2WD due to its clever, on-demand 4WD system. Versatile and easy to drive, the Outlander is packed with innovative features, including a split tailgate, satellite navigation and a reversing camera so you can see for miles ahead and yards behind.

Surbiton crew eye China call

Surbiton Hockey Club's Slazenger National Premier Division squad might have been relaxing over Easter but their six Olympians-in-waiting were busy taking part in at Great Britain's first Beijing training camp in Bisham Abbey, writes Sean Cotter.

Richard Alexander, Matt Daly, Ben Hawes, Ben Marsden, Rob Moore and James Tindall face a hectic summer schedule as they bid to be named in a 16-man squad for the Team GB camp in Macau in June, ahead of the Games from August 8-23.

Meanwhile, Surbiton travel to third-placed Cannock on Sunday for their penultimate league fixture, having dropped from fifth to eighth in England's elite 10-team league after five successive defeats.

However, they can relax in the knowledge that they cannot slip into the bottom two relegation spots in their last two games.

Logan's quest is hamstrung

Disaster struck Kingston & Polytechnic sprinter Pat Logan's medal bid in the world masters indoor track and field championships in Cleremont Ferrand, France, last weekend.

Lining up as one of the favourites for the men's over-45 60m final, Logan spotted a cone in his lane and asked officials to remove it. They declined, forcing him to run around it.

In doing so, he aggravated a hamstring injury, almost certainly costing him a medal as he finished fourth by the thickness of a vest.

The incident also forced him to pull out of the 200m and the 4x200m relay, in which Britain took bronze.

Beveney exit irks Dowson

by STUART AMOS

samos@london.newsquest.co.uk

Manager Alan Dowson has vowed former striker Shawn Beveney will not play for Kingstonian after he quit to join Blue Square South side Lewes last week.

The 25-year-old moved to Kingsmeadow from Dulwich Hamlet in February, sparking a return to form that has seen Ks win their past five matches.

A 3-2 triumph at Horsham YMCA on Saturday and a 1-0 win against Leatherhead two days later gave Dowson a perfect Easter tonic, lifting Ks back into the Ryman League Division One South play-off places.

Beveney was left out for both matches after his agent told Dowson he had had trials with Aldershot and Grays Athletic reserves last week. He then appeared for Lewes in Saturday's 3-0 win at Sutton United.

And the Ks boss has declared Beveney is one player he will not be seeing again.

"It is massively disappointing. We rolled out the red carpet to get him here and this is how he repays us," he said.

"I got a call from somebody saying he was Shawn's agent last week and, at first, I thought he was trying to sell me a house.

"I can't believe somebody at this level has an agent. It is frightening.

"If he wants to play at a higher level, good luck to him, but he won't be playing for this club again."

Beveney failed to get on the scoresheet during his brief stint with Ks and, ironically, his biggest legacy could be getting them kicked out of the Surrey Senior Cup.

Dowson's troops are yet to learn their fate for fielding the Guyana international in last month's 4-0 semi-final victory over Tooting & Mitcham.

Beveney was illegible for the clash according to competition rules, but Ks are yet to hear the Surrey FA's decision despite it being discussed by the Challenge Trophies committee more than a week ago.

A Bobby Traynor brace and a Gavin Cartwright header accounted for Horsham on Saturday, before Tommy Williams's free-kick dispatched the Tanners on Monday.

It leaves them in good form for Saturday's trip to in-form Cray Wanderers.

Casuals drop worries linger

Corinthian Casuals missed the chance to move away from the Ryman League Division One South danger zone when they went down 2-1 at home to fellow strugglers Eastbourne Town on Saturday.

Fortunately for Casuals, who were due to play promotion hopefuls Metropolitan Police at Imber Court on Tuesday night, second-from-bottom Horsham YMCA lost both their matches over Easter.

Manager Brian Adamson will be looking for a response when Casuals host Walton & Hersham on Saturday.

The Swans had been on the fringes of the play-offs but have not won in their past nine matches.

Geared up to paint town green

by PETER TRUMAN
ptruman@london.newsquest.co.uk

The preparations for Kingston's biggest environmental event of the year are well under way, and organisers have urged everyone to get involved.

The Paint the Town Green festival kicks off on May 15 and the events calender is already filling up, with something happening almost every day during the three week event.

Bernadette Vallely, one of the festival organisers, hopes the whole community will take part.

She said: "It's not a game it's our future. What we're trying to do is say to everyone, every school and organisation and person, to do something about being environmentally conscious and show it off.

"If you're going to do something green do it during Paint the Town Green so that the whole town is doing something green."

The activities start at 7pm in the Peel pub on Thursday, May 15, with the Grey Horse and Willoughby Arms pubs also confirmed as venues for green gigs.

And the airwaves will be filled with green messages when a solar-powered radio station broadcasts for the entire three weeks, with people being invited to create their own programmes.

The festival's piece de resistance is the 21st Kingston Green Fair, billed as Kingston's biggest cultural event, with 250 performers on five stages and an expected 15,000 visitors.

Bernadette Vallely believes this year will be a seminal year in spreading the eco-message.

She said: "I've been doing this for 20 years and I've noticed a shift in the psyche of people about the environment.

"Everyone is conscious of the change."

The Big Picture

❑ The Square Mile is greener than the financial districts of New York, Tokyo and Sydney, research claims this week.

The City has been doing the most to to tackle carbon emmissions, with a 30 per cent reduction target by 2030, the sustainability assessment for the City of London found.

It was also ahead on cutting car use, with 80 per cent of City workers using public transport to get to work.

ECOnews

PUT THAT LIGHT OUT: People around the globe are being asked to turn their lights off for an hour to show support for action against climate change. Between 8pm and 9pm on Saturday, March 29, millions will take part in Earth Hour 2008.

Colin Butfield of organiser WWF-UK said: "Earth Hour is a simple way for people to show they care about climate change."

NEW HYDRO-BUSES: Ten new hydrogen-fuelled buses are coming to the capital in a bid to reduce the carbon emissions of London's transport.

The Mayor of London announced that Transport for London had signed a £3.4million contract with Air Products to provide the hydrogen fuel for the buses. Routes have yet to be decided.

TIME RUNNING OUT: Time is running out to apply for a grant for an environmental project from Kingston Council.

The council has £25,000 available to voluntary or community organisations who are looking to set up green schemes. But the deadline for applications is April 18.

For a form and further information visit kingston.gov.uk/grants or email grants@rbk.kingston.gov.uk.

Green makeover planned for fire station

Surbiton fire station is the latest building in the Royal borough to have a green makeover.

The station is one of 42 public buildings across London which Mayor of London Ken Livingstone has targeted in an effort to reduce carbon emissions by a quarter.

Mr Livingstone said: "Surbiton fire station is one of the very first buildings which will be given a green makeover as part of a ground breaking programme to transform the capital's buildings from the major source of climate change emissions, to a beacon of energy efficiency."

Val Shawcross, chairman of the London Fire and Emergency Planning Authority, added: "London's fire service has a strong commitment to reduce our carbon footprint and to support the Mayor's climate change action plan.

"We are delighted to be involved in this programme."

The site will be audited next month before energy services company Dalkia begins work.

The innovative programme will guarantee a set level of energy savings – and therefore also financial saving – over a period of years, creating a guaranteed future income to fund investment in improvements such as insulation, energy efficient building management technology and low carbon heating and cooling equipment.

Green Guardian is grateful to the following company for its generous sponsorship:

QUADRON

Council on board for third year

Once again Kingston Council is backing the Green Guardian campaign, much to the delight of the council's cabinet member for the environment, Liz Green.

She said she was thrilled to announce that the Royal borough was on board for a third year and looking to make Kingston even greener.

She said: "We're very pleased to be involved with the Green Guardian for a third year.

"It's nice to see some new people who have been inspired by the pages to come forward for the awards.

"I think this year the awards will be the most hotly contested yet as more and more people become environmentally conscious.

"And it's not just the winners themselves – they inspire other people and organisations to change."

And Coun Green was looking forward to another hotly contested Green Guardian Awards night, with property and grounds maintenance contractor Quadron also supporting the awards.

Q & A

Each week we will ask a question on a green related subject. This week:

How many single-use plastic bags are given out by Britain's high street stores every year?

Check the Green Guardian page next week to see if you got it right (to the closest billion!)
